Břitva Awards 2013 – contours of the award ceremony

As was announced earlier, the live awards ceremony of the 13th installment of annual Břitva Awards shall occur Saturday, March 29, 2014, in Brno-based Melodka club, this time however, in cooperation with MetalGate Productions & Records.

As far as the line-up goes, although the most prospective band names of the current installment can perhaps already be ascertained, we decided to go this time for those acts that have not yet played live on the Břitva award ceremony, thus giving it in this case a prominently death metal character, which of course does not change the openness of the Awards to all styles and sub-genres of hard n' heavy music.

The ceremony roster will be spearheaded by iconic HYPNOS, resurrected few years back, followed by death metal veterans TORTHARRY and the good old perverts of ISACAARUM, both presenting their respective new albums. This primary trinity shall then be supplemented with rather new act, yet staffed with experienced musicians, ANTIGOD, and finally with SKLEPMASTER. Both acts recently released their new albums that can be found as inserts of the recent issues of the Pařát magazine.

Finally, few notes to the Awards as such. As usual, the hard n' heavy journalists, who nominate and pick the winners of individual categories, shall undertake voting during February, with nominations being announced at the beginning of March 2014.
