METALGATE PROUDLY PRESENTS: DEMENTOR – DAMNED

After two years of calm before the storm, the Slovak death metal beast Dementor rises again, to unleash upon the world its seventh spawn named “Damned”, whose task is to bring to all forsaken a sacrilegious cacophony of godless litanies in all its beauty; in other words, eleven tracks of raw death metal, full of brutality and blasphemy. Thematically, “Damned” reconnects to previous albums of Dementor and thus brings yet another chapter of the message of depravity and absurdity of religion as such, be it, a blind faith, violence in God’s name, or the moral corruption of God’s house on Earth:

„Church is a breakup of this world.“

Dementor has been active on the Slovak metal scene since 1988 and has been practicing its antireligious inclination right away since its first demo “The Extinction of Christianity” (1992). Over the years, the band recorded two demos and seven studio albums, including the brand new “Damned”, as well as played numerous live shows not only at home in Slovakia, but also in Czech Republic, Germany, Netherlands, Russia, Belgium, Spain, Poland or Serbia. Highlights of these concert activities are no doubt the Russian tour with Vader in 2000, and more importantly, the European tour with the American death metal icon Suffocation two years later.

“Damned” is released under MetalGate Records, with Dementor thus being the first Slovak band to enter the ranks of this label that currently comprises nine bands under its patronage. The album will come out 15.8.2011 in jewel case format. The visual side of the whole enterprise bears the brush strokes of maestro Jaromír “Deather” Bezruč, who is one of the foremost Czech metal artists.

The album is available from 15.8.2011 at MetalGate eshop, as well as on live shows of the band along with other Dementor merchandise.
